

HOW WE PRICE PROJECTS

We've heard some horror stories about budgets spiralling out of control and nasty invoices arriving.

We don't believe this short term approach to pricing does much for customer relations. We prefer total transparency in our pricing and billing so we use day rates in line with your project requirements to create initial planning estimates.

What this means is that if we complete your project in fewer days than budgeted, you get billed accordingly and only pay for the time that we actually use.
